Election/Restrictions

1. After further consideration, the restriction requirement has been withdrawn.

While the restriction is proper, the examiner looked for both embodiments and all the claims have been examined.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 9, 11-14 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Souza.

Souza shows a valve having an attachment portion 11; sleeve 40, 41; central portion seen in Figure 1 at 45 having the various wall structures; end portions 22, 23; head 44; slit 45 defining opposing regions; face seen in Figure 1; flange 12; dispensing end structure 13; parts of the sleeve extend both outwardly and inwardly of the peripheral portion; the head portion is concave as seen in Figure 1; and support walls 22, 23.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 10 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Souza.

Souza has been discussed above, but lacks the separate closure and the specific relationship between the width and length. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide a separate closure in order to be able to seal the device when the valve is removed, thus preventing contamination. Further, the length of the sidewall is clearly longer than the width of the valve head as seen in Figure 1. Having the length be at least three times the width would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art as Souza is silent on the precise relationship yet shows a considerably longer length than width.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 1-8 are allowed.

Art Unit: 3754

8. Claims 16, 17, 19 and 20 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Latham, Lampe et al., Davis, Lerner, Schantz et al. and Socier show other flexible valves with slits.
